Internal IO5 pilot-testing phase occurred in February 2019.

The Sparkling Grey train-the-trainers package – the final main output of the project – was internally tested in Pécs, Hungary. Between February 18th and 22nd, project partners took 2 staff members to test this resource as well as to enhance their personal capacity to turn silver into gold human resources strategies that effectively address an ageing and multi-generational workforce. This was also a great opportunity for partners to provide inputs and fine-tune this package and its structure and content.

External IO5 pilot-testing phase is taking place.

After the internal testing and inherent improvements, the Sparkling Grey train-the-trainers package is having, during this month, its external pilot-testing phase. Namely, approximately 100 trainers, consultants and guidance professionals from 25 training organisations are being involved in order to validate the above-mentioned resource. This is a very important fine-tuning moment of this package, since allows the partnership to collect feedback from the end-users and adjusting it to the real needs and demands of these target groups.
